

Gary Bagin

National Business Development Officer

gbagin@stradley.com

Philadelphia, PA: 215.564.8701

As the firm's national business development officer, Gary Bagin focuses on expanding the firm's client base and strengthening relationships with existing clients.

With more than two decades of marketing and public relations experience, Gary is well-versed in identifying business opportunities that align with the firm's client-centric priorities. Ensuring the provision of excellent client service, Gary collaborates across practices to cross-sell and promote the firm's capabilities.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Gary was responsible for public relations and advertising at a business-to-business publishing company. He also served as vice president for a Philadelphia-area advertising agency and handled public relations for a major healthcare institution in southern New Jersey. Gary has taught graduate and undergraduate public relations classes at The College of New Jersey and Rowan University.

Community Impact

Gary is involved in several nonprofit and charitable organizations, including the Children's Fund for Glycogen Storage Disease Research, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and YMCA. He is also a member of the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce CEO Council's Senior Contacts.
