

Joseph C. Torres

Associate

jtorres@stradley.com

Philadelphia, PA: 215.564.8632

Joseph Torres focuses his practice on providing strategic counsel to public and private companies across a wide range of corporate matters, including mergers and acquisitions, corporate governance, public finance, and real estate transactions. Joe also advises clients on government affairs compliance, structured financing, nonprofit scaling, and capital markets transactions across various industries.

Joe was a member of Stradley Ronon's summer associate class. He was a legal intern at a medical malpractice law firm based in Philadelphia, where he conducted research, assisted with discovery and deposition preparation, and drafted motions and memoranda.

Prior to law school, Joe was chief of staff for a global multidimensional investment management and services firm in New York, where he developed standard operating procedures and managed day-to-day operations. He also was a legal intern with the New York Supreme Court for Dutchess and Orange counties.

---

Publications

Asset Purchase or Merger? Pennsylvania Superior Court Clarifies the Limits of De Facto Merger Doctrine

Journal of Bankruptcy Law
June 2026

---

Business Vantage Point Blog

Asset Purchase or Merger? Pennsylvania Superior Court Clarifies the Limits of De Facto Merger Doctrine

March 26, 2026

---

Services

- Corporate, Mergers & Acquisitions, and Securities
- Finance
- Real Estate
- Public Finance
- Government Affairs
- Corporate

---

Education

- Villanova University Charles Widger School of Law (J.D.)
- Villanova University (B.A.)

---

Admissions

- Pennsylvania

A key advantage to structuring an M&A transaction as an asset purchase, rather than a stock purchase or merger, is the buyer's ability to limit the liabilities of the target that the buyer agrees to assume under the deal...