Washington, DC: 202.507.5162

Nadine Williams advises multinational corporations and other business entities in complex federal and state litigation, regulatory compliance investigations, and risk management matters.

Nadine previously was an extern in the Enforcement Division at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), conducting regulatory investigations and compliance assessments in the financial sector. With precision, creativity and a client-first approach, she helps businesses navigate legal challenges and align legal strategy with broader commercial objectives.

Nadine has experience defending insurers in payer-provider disputes and pharmaceutical manufacturers in multidistrict products liability litigation. She also advises on investigative oversight and regulatory risk. Clients trust her to balance assertive advocacy with pragmatic negotiation, skillfully preparing for trial while pursuing favorable settlements. Her dual-track approach mitigates litigation risk, preserves client resources, and maximizes strategic leverage, even in the most challenging disputes.

Featured Representative Matters

- Defended a multinational pharmaceutical company in a multidistrict (MDL) products liability action proceeding in the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida against failure-to-warn and negligence claims associated with the company's oral chemotherapy medication.
- Coordinated a large-scale discovery effort for products liability pharmaceutical cases spread throughout the state of New Jersey that were then centralized in Bergen County for multicounty litigation (MCL).
- Represented insurers in complex arbitration and litigation proceedings stemming from payer-provider reimbursement disputes.

Community Impact

Nadine served as a litigation fellow through Georgetown University Law Center's DC Affordable Law Firm, representing low-income clients in family law, immigration and probate matters. She continues to give back as a volunteer with the Election Protection voter information hotline and remains actively involved in pro bono
