

Sarah Hirebet

Director of Knowledge & Innovation

shirebet@stradley.com

Philadelphia, PA: 215.564.8184

A strategic knowledge solutions architect, Sarah Hirebet empowers practice innovation by leveraging people, process, data and technology. Creator of the firm's knowledge management program, Sarah leads and enhances legal and operational projects across the firm with a focus on efficiency, accuracy and joy.

Sarah focuses on knowledge strategy and spearheads efforts to elevate the standards for legal learning and to integrate generative AI technologies into legal practice.

She drives innovation through strategic partnerships, training initiatives and comprehensive change management strategies, with a focus on designing and maintaining sophisticated knowledge portals and interactive databases that offer unique reporting features and workflow optimization.

A sought-after thought leader in the knowledge management space, Sarah is often called upon to discuss practice innovation, emerging technologies and legal project design and process.

Sarah previously spent more than 15 years at an Am Law 10 firm, where she helped shepherd and champion the adoption of knowledge solutions. Before transitioning to knowledge leadership, Sarah began her legal career as an employment litigator with a focus on client counseling.

Community Impact

Sarah has served in advisory roles for organizations supporting innovative, high-touch education initiatives and was the founder of the Duquesne University School of Law Arbitration Team, where she was a coach and mentor for seven years.

She is an active Brazilian jiu-jitsu practitioner and competitor, committed to building awareness and education around inclusion in the jiu-jitsu community.
